SUNDAY MORNING—MARCH 21, 1861.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce James R. Barnes, of Barnes county for State Treasurer.

ALL FOOL'S DAY.—To-morrow is the anniversary of the fall of the world, and more people will be bounte of practical jokes than during all the rest of the year. The origin of this fool-making custom is by no means a settled question. It is of great antiquity in Sweden, Germany, Sweden and France. In the latter country the joke is an opportunity for the people to have a good time, and a series of a certain kind of fish allow themselves to be taken easily. In other countries the custom is ascribed to the time of Noah for its origin, or to the abduction of the Sabine women on the first of April, the feast of Neptune, while others ascribe it to the birth of the mockery of the Saviors by the Jews. No matter what its origin may be, it is the custom of wit and humor, and wage riot in new and borrowed jokes and gags. In honor of the occasion, we will offer a little advice to the simple minded.

The Postmaster-General has issued orders for a supply of letter paper, cut-gummed, and embossed with a three-cent stamp, combining in one both letter-sheet and envelope. The occasion was a happy one, and both the donor and the recipient were worthy of it.

MILITARY PARADE.—We learn that Major Tom H. Hunt has prepared and presented to his battalion of the State Guard, a massive silver gong (or something that will bear that description). We regret that we have not received a description of it, as promised by a friend.

Are you lucky? Get a ticket in the "Library Association Co." Fifth distribution, April 23, 1861.

CARRY COTAR.—John Arnold and Sam Carney, drunk and disorderly, at $100 for two months. Elizabeth Neese, on a peace warrant by Margaret Byman; bail in $200 for six months. John Itigan, stealing a coat from Jim Somerville, $100 to answer in the Criminal Court. Flemming Kennedy, disorderly, bail in $100 for a month. Richard Barrett, stealing boats from Samuel B. Porter, bail in $100 to answer. T. L. Haggard, drunk and disorderly, bail in $100 for two months.

THE last chance to get a ticket. Go to morning, 305 Jefferson street.

We are requested to say that Mr. Spencer continues his sale at Guthrie Bro's store, on Monday morning and afternoon. During the day the stock of fine silk and fancy goods will be offered. The ladies are especially invited to attend.

THOSE small out-glass oil lamps which have been so anxiously expected, have at last arrived at G. Y. China Palace, corner of Green and Fourth streets.

Special Notices.

TRINITY.—Among the places worthy of the attention of the visitors to Louisville at the present time, is the great trunk manufactory and emporium of J. H. McCleary, on the northeast corner of Fourth and Main streets. His large manufactory enables him to supply trunks, valises, bonnet and hat boxes, carpet bags, bureau trunks, etc., of the very best quality, at unreasonably low prices. All of Mr. McCleary's work is beautiful, as well as durable goods. Give him a call.

Spaev Strook of Men's and Boys' Clothing.—J. M. Armstrong, on Main, opposite the National Hotel, is now opening his elegant store of seasonal clothing for men's youth and children's wear, embracing all sizes and qualities for children from two years to the largest youths. Beautiful assortment of light cassimere suits. Also a handsome stock of slacks, cassimere, vestings, for which orders are solicited. Price very low for cash.

FURNITURE AT COST FOR CASH.—J. M. Smith & Bro. are selling out their entire stock of furniture at cost, being desirous of making a change in business. They are offering inducements at a great sacrifice, to those who desire to replenish their houses. Call and look for yourselves, before buying elsewhere, at No. 208 Market street, between Second and Third.

Orders for subscription to the Daily Democrat left at Geo. W. Barth's store, northeast corner of Market and Twelfth streets, at Dr. Zander's, corner of Market and Twelfth, and at the southeast corner of Jefferson and Shatto streets, will be promptly attended to by the editor.
